

Subj: Re: letter of support
Date: 7/27/2011 5:42:15 A.M. Pacific Daylight Time
From: BobPurvey@aol.com
To: dkampion@whidbey.net
CC: gtommorey@gmail.com, mickey@mickeymunoz.com, takchp@gmail.com, henryford@cox.net, mikesalisburyllc@gmail.com, wyttsimmons@yahoo.com

Thanks DK. All the best.

In a message dated 7/21/2011 5:03:27 P.M. Pacific Daylight Time, dkampion@whidbey.net writes:

To: Bob Purvey
Re: Malibu Surfrider Nose Riding Championships

Malibu has been the quintessential arena for surf competition since it became the hub for surfing contests during the great club era of the 1960s. The Malibu wave is the archetype of what a contest wave should be (symmetrical, smooth, long), and the venue allows excellent observation by both the judges and the public. In fact, it was the regularity and reliability of the Malibu wave that made this the place where nose-riding emerged as a discreet discipline within the sport of surfing. And so it is most appropriate that Malibu be the site of these Malibu Surfrider Nose Riding Championships.

Drew Kampion has been a writer and editor of surfing publications and books for over 40 years.

drew